

Rabenschüssel

R e v i s i t e d

Featuring
superior moves, loose rocks, illogical lines
and lots of sand!

Intro

Here we give small updates regarding the bouldering destination Rabenschüssel as the officially published guidebooks are obsolescent

Also we were quite bored.

This guide focuses solely on routes in the 6th and 7th Bleau grade and are either brandnew or if the line is known:

- the grade has been adjusted
- the line slightly differs to the line in the official guides.
- the route is superiorly nice and has been included for the reason of completeness.

Feedback is most welcome.

Manual

Lines

In general, hands follow more or less the drawn lines. Start hold(s) and ending are marked. If a line is not a traverse, it means top out!

Grades

Given in Fontainebleau scale. If a boulder is a traverse, the grade is given as FB trav., otherwise its FB block.

Names

The block names in this document follow the naming scheme in BlocReich, and SteinReich. If a known boulder has not been assigned a name yet, we did so now!

Marks and abbreviations:

- |                                    |   |
|------------------------------------|---|
| ✖ | Do not use that hold / part of the rock |
| ! | Dangerous problem due to loose rocks.   |
| s.d.                               | Sit down                                |
| t.o.                               | Top out                                 |
